DISTRICT RULES

NB – Words outlined in bold type in the District Rules have a specific definition contained in Chapter 2 (Definitions).

RULE A – GENERAL

RULE A1 – CONSENT PROCEDURES

A1.1 Introduction

The Plan’s rules aim to avoid, remedy or mitigate the adverse environmental effects of any use of land and any associated natural and physical resources for which the Council has responsibility under the Act. This includes the effects of development or protection of land, subdivision, and any activities on the surface of rivers and lakes.

The term ‘rule’ applies to any control used within the District Plan. The main system used is to classify activities into categories with different levels of control, depending on their actual or potential effects. The Plan Rules also contain standards which land uses and subdivisions must meet. The controls and standards are different for each zone.

People applying for a land use or subdivision consent may also need resource consents from the Regional Council. For example a project could require a subdivision consent for a proposed new lot, a land use consent for a factory on the new lot, a water permit to put down a bore, and a discharge permit to dispose of effluent.

NB - Insufficient information may delay the processing of an application.

- ii) Changes to the design and other details of a notified application may be made before the end of a hearing, but only if the amendments are within the scope of the original application. If the changes go beyond that scope, such as by increasing the scale or intensity of the proposed activity, or by changing the character or effects of the proposal, a fresh application will be required.
